

Search Process – Overview

Our process for a genuinely thorough and global executive search encompasses four key stages, each with a distinct outcome.

These include:

Stage 1: Briefings and consultations with key stakeholders, resulting in a position profile, a booklet providing details of the appointment, and a public advertisement for the position.

Perrett Laver – assessment of candidates on the long list, including meetings to verify candidate achievements and experience against the selection criteria, to identify a short list of candidates for NSCAD consideration.

Stage 4: The NSCAD interview process and formal referencing, including two rounds of interviews with the Presidential Search Committee and meetings with a cross-section of the NSCAD community. This stage concludes with a decision and negotiations with the successful candidate.
